BLOODY RIOTS BRING CASAUALTIES IN INDIA

29 POLICE AND 157 NATIVES ARE INJURED

RIOTING AT MYMENSINGH, IN BENGAL, RENEWED LAST NIGHT

POLICE FIRED ON MOB IN EARLIER UPROAR, WHEN 90 NATIVES WERE INJURED

London, May 16.—(U.P.)—Rioting at Mymensingh, in Bengal, was renewed with heavy casualties late tonight, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Calcutta said.

Twenty-eight police and 53 rioters were injured in the fighting, the dispatch said. Police fired on a mob at Mymensingh earlier, injuring 90 persons.

Another Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Calcutta said police fired on a mob of demonstrators, seriously injuring five rioters. A police inspector was injured in the clash.

Bombay, India, May 16. — Police turned back nationalist demonstrators late today in a clash at the Dharasana salt works, where a surprise raid was attempted after the forcible removal of Mrs. Sarojinji Naidu, poetess and independence leader.

Nine persons were injured in the fight.

Sholapur, India, May 16. — Fifteen persons were given prison sentences here today for participation in the recent Sholapur rioting or for violation of martial law regulations. The president of the Sholapur congress committee, Jaja, was sentenced to seven years of hard labor and 2,000 rupees fine.

The secretary of the congress war council was sentenced to ten years' hard labor and 3,000 rupees fine.

Delhi, India, May 16.—Five congress volunteers were sentenced to a month's rigorous imprisonment today for defying an order banning assembly of more than five persons. One other volunteer was sentenced to a month's simple imprisonment on the same charge.

Bombay, India, May 16.—Great Britain's intention to disregard sentiment in suppressing the Indian independence movement was shown today when Mrs. Maladevi Chatopadhyaya, sister-in-law of Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, independence leader, was arrested on a charge of violating the salt laws.

Mrs. Chatopadhyaya was tried immediately, convicted and sentenced to nine months' and two weeks' simple imprisonment.

Mrs. Chatopadhyaya was the first woman arrested in Bombay, since Mahatma Gandhi instituted his passive resistance campaign against British rule two months ago. She was arrested less than 24 hours after she was chosen to lead a raid of 2,000 independence seekers on the Wadala salt depot, near here Sunday.

By the arrest, the British government apparently wished to indicate that, because a woman now heads the passive resistance campaign, it would not soften in its determination to put down the revolt.

Women have been active since the start of the campaign as picketers of liquor and foreign cloth shops, but until Mrs. Naidu accepted the leadership vacated by the arrest of Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji, the government had ignored them.

In addition to Mrs. Chatopadhyaya, a hundred volunteers were arrested at the Bombay docks as they were about to board a steamer enroute to Shiroda where they had planned to raid a salt depot. Several street hawkers also were arrested here when they were caught distributing copies of the national congress bulletin, which the government has banned.

STATE CONTENDS WOMAN VIOLATED 'BLUE SKY' LAWS

St. Cloud, Minn., May 16.—(U.P.)—Several versions of the story of how Mrs. Julia M. Garvey, St. Paul, obtained funds on an alleged secret process for converting water into gasoline by use of capsules were told to the Stearns county grand jury today.

Mrs. Garvey waited to be called to tell her story of how funds were raised for the project which the state contends was in violation of the "blue sky" laws.

3 MEN KILLED AT POWHATTAN MINE EXPLOSION

Washington, Pa., May 16.—(U.P.)—Three men were dead today as the result of an explosion in the Powhattan mine at Avella, near here, when sparks ignited escaping gas.

Approximately 400 men in the shaft yesterday at the time of the explosion were at first believed entombed by the explosion when it required more than 30 minutes for them to get to the surface.

JOINT FUNERAL RITES FOR FATHER AND 3 CHILDREN

Carlton, Minn., May 16.—(U.P.)—Most of this town's citizenry turned out today to attend the joint funeral services for Terry Lynch and his three children who were burned to death when fire destroyed their farm home Wednesday.

Mrs. Lynch was unable to attend the services because of serious burns she received while carrying her six-year-old daughter, Mary, safely through the blazing house.

Doctors today said Mrs. Lynch probably would recover although a relapse might prove fatal.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS LAND IN FRANCE TODAY

FIRST CONTINGENT BROUGHT TO CHERBOURG BY S. S. AMERICA

FRENCH OFFICIALS GO OUT TO MEET PILGRIMAGE FROM U. S.

Cherbourg, France, May 16.—(U.P.)—The S. S. America steamed into Cherbourg Roads under a bright sun today, bringing the first contingent of gold star mothers to visit the graves of their soldier sons in France.

French officials went out to meet the pilgrimage. The wharves and welcoming boats were decorated in honor of the mothers and their journey.

There were few dry eyes as the mothers and wives of men who died on French battlefields looked on the sunny harbor where many American troops landed a dozen years ago.

France gave them a sympathetic welcome and reassured them the nation has not forgotten the sacrifice of America.

First stages of the trip, which was laid through the bright Normandy countryside where fruit trees and meadows indicated how far France has moved from the war.

At Paris the party will be divided into six groups. The visitors will be shown over Paris for three days and Mrs. Sarah Thompson of New York will place a wreath from America on the tomb of the unknown soldier. Later sight seeing trips will be made to Versailles where the visitors may see the table where the world war treaty was signed.

BLAMED TODAY FOR DYNAMITING OF DAM ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Pine City, Minn., May 16.—(U.P.)—A 25-year-old feud between farmers and power interests over the damning of the Snake river at Chengwatana, three miles below here, was blamed today for the dynamiting of the dam Wednesday night.

Just 25 years ago, farmers angered at the flooding of their land by the dam, blew it up under similar circumstances. The land had been flooded again this year and authorities blamed the explosion to the same cause.

Water this season was at its highest level in the past 15 years, Arthur Glasgow, Pine City marshal, reported. The river had ben augmented by recent rains and by a partial break in the Knife lake dam, 19 miles northwest of Pine City.

Miles of farm land and several highways were flooded. There had been numerous protests by farmers in the district, investigation showed.

FAMILY ARGUMENT BRINGS TRAGEDY

Chicago, May 16.—(U.P.)—Because she bought a cook stove with borrowed money Mrs. William Schliemann's 14-year-old son was dead today and she and her other two sons were in the Roseland hospital in a critical condition from bullet wounds.

Her husband, a steel worker, returned home last night and frenziedly shot all members of his family, with the exception of a daughter who was playing outside, when he received in interest notice on a $100 loan. The money had been borrowed by Mrs. Schliemann for the purchase of a kitchen stove. Schliemann escaped.

Northwest Business Conditions are Improving

MONTHLY REPORT OF 9TH FEDERAL RESERVE BANK PUBLISHED

VOLUME OF APRIL BUSINESS IS SMALLER THAN IN APRIL, 1929

Minneapolis, Minn., May 16.—(U.P.)—Northwest business conditions are improving, although they are not yet on a par with last year's affairs at this time, the monthly report of the ninth federal reserve bank showed today.

The volume of April business was somewhat smaller than last April but was on a higher level than in March, the report said after making allowances for seasonal variations.

Debits to individual accounts at clearing house banks in 17 trade centers showed as large a figure as the corresponding month last year. Minneapolis and St. Paul reported increases that offset losses in other districts.

Although the total business volume showed gains compared with earlier reports this year, it was still somewhat below that of a year ago.

A reduced cash farm income was reported from the district this month. Declines were shown in all estimated incomes except potatoes.

Electric power consumption and department store sales showed increases in April as compared with the same month last year, but decreases as compared with a year ago occurred in freight carloadings, postal receipts, building permits and contracts and flour and linseed product shipments. The increase in department store sales over the volume a year ago was due partly to the later date of Easter, which caused most of the pre-Easter buying to fall in April this year and in March a year ago.

The estimated cash income to farmers from the marketing of cash crops, hogs and dairy products in April was 28 per cent smaller than the income from the sources in April last year.

Senate Ponders Over Tariff Bill Provisions, House Plans a Vote on the Ketcham Measure

KETCHAM BILL IS AN AID TO AGRICULTURE

NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL THEN TO BE TAKEN UP BY THE HOUSE

DUAL HEARINGS ON LONDON NAVAL LIMITATION TREATY SCHEDULED TODAY

Washington, May 16.—(U.P.) — While the senate pondered whether to stand by the debenture and flexible clause provisions of the tariff bill, the house today planned a vote on the Ketcham bill to establish a foreign service for the agriculture department.

It was the desire for a vote on this measure that lead Wednesday night to the "arrest" of Speaker Nicholas Longworth by the house sergeant-at-arms. Longworth promised them the bill would have priority today.

House leaders expected the measure would be disposed of shortly and planned afterward to consider the naval appropriation bill, providing about $380,000,000 for new naval construction and maintenance of the naval establishment.

Dual hearings on the London naval limitation treaty were scheduled today in the senate foreign relations and naval affairs committees. Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol of the navy general board was called before the former, while the latter summoned Rear Admiral Hilary Jones, retired.

The senate judiciary committee planned to continue hearings on a bill to restrict the power of courts in granting injunctions, while the $110,000,000 rivers and harbors bill was still before the senate commerce committee.

The banking and currency committee planned to continue its hearings on branch and chain banking.

Floodlights have been turned on for what promises to be one of the most supercharged and colorful congressional campaigns since the war—providing an indirect test of President Hoover's popularity after a year and a half in office.

Prohibition has been thrust forward in republican politics by the declaration for repeal of the 18th amendment made by Dwight W. Morrow last night in opening his campaign for the republican senatorial nomination in New Jersey.

If Morrow wins the nomination from former Senator Frelinghuysen, recently turned wet, and from Rep. Franklin Fort, who is expected to enter as a republican dry and if he then carries the state in the November election, a movement to make him the next republican presidential candidate on the wet issue is anticipated.

Representatives are discussing the possibilities of a new plan presented by "Jack" Garner of Texas, fiery leader of the house minority, to wrest the balance of power from the industrial east.

Garner has proposed to divide Texas into five smaller states. This would increase its senate representation from two to ten and place the south in position to contest the power of the east in drafting economic legislation. Only an act of the Texas legislature is necessary to effect such a division, Garner said, citing historical precedents.

FLOODS FOLLOW IN THE WAKE OF HEAVY RAINS

3 WEEKS' STEADY DOWNPOUR CAUSES TROUBLE IN OKLAHOMA

RIVERS AND CREEKS RISING STEADILY, SOME SPILL OVER BANKS

Oklahoma City, May 16. — (U.P.) — Floods that followed in the wake of three weeks of steady downpour and storms threatened in almost every section of Oklahoma today.

Rivers and creeks draining the watersheds of the heavy rain section rose steadily today and some spilled over their banks. Earth soaked by incessant rains shed virtually all moisture that has fallen the past three days.

The first loss of life resulting from the floods was reported at Durant where M. Rambo, highway patrolman, was washed from a bridge over the Little Blue river and drowned.

FORT TO RUN AS DRY FOR SENATE SEAT

Newark, N. J., May 16.—(U.P.)—Representative Franklin Fort, republican, announced today his candidacy for the United States senate on a dry platform.

He will oppose Ambassador Dwight Morrow of Englewood and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, both of whom are running on anti-prohibition platforms.

Retired School Teacher Dies From Injuries

Moorhead, Minn., May 16—(U.P.)—Miss Nellie O'Connor, 49, retired school teacher, died today from injuries received when struck by a Great Northern mail train at a city crossing.

READ, 84-YEAR-OLD FARMER-LAWYER, TO FIGHT NORRIS

"PROHIBITION WILL NEVER BE ENFORCED, NORRIS NOT UNBEATABLE," SAYS READ

Lincoln, Neb., May 16.—(U.P.)—Aaron C. Read, 84-year-old lawyer-farmer, bewhiskered and in a scrapping mood, breezed into his United States senatorial campaign today against Senator George W. Norris in the Nebraska republican primary.

Read, patriarch of four score years and four and equipped with a voice which boomed from behind a growth of white whiskers covering his face and spreading to where his vest begins, announced he felt 25 years younger and was ready to meet Norris, veteran senate leader whom Read called "the great objector."

The elderly politician spoke eagerly about his political philosophy, announcing: (1) Prohibition will never be enforced (2); the party advocating repeal or modification of prohibition laws will win the next presidential election; (3) Senator Norris not an "unbeatable man", and (4) he, Read, is in the campaign to fight to the last ditch.

"In spite of some eminent medical authorities to the contrary, I believe that alcoholic beverages have the proper and useful place in the scheme of things," Read said.

"But I would never drink any of this terrible moonshine; good stuff is getting hard to get, though."

He said the majority party which would come out boldly for repeal or modification of the Volstead law would carry the next presidential election.

He feels his age does not bar him from becoming a political champion. There is no age limit, Read said, as long as a candidate is able to advocate a live issue. In the long run, however, "if a man has good sense, he would never enter politics."

"But I'm in this campaign to stay and no consideration whatever would buy me off to get out of the race," Read said.

Read recalled that two years ago he had entered the senatorial race only to be forced to withdraw when law suits, threatening to foreclose a mortgage on his old homestead at Madison, Neb., kept him "too busy to make a campaign." Two years previous to that, Read had been a republican congressional candidate but lost.

WILLIAM G. OWENS IS NEW ATTORNEY FOR FARM BOARD

Williston, N. D., May 16.—(U.P.)—William G. Owens, Williston lawyer, today accepted appointment as principal attorney for the Federal Farm board.

Owens wired his acceptance to Washington this morning. He expects to leave for the national capital on June 1 to assume his duties.

The attorney has been a resident of Williston for the past 20 years.

LOBBY COMMITTEE TO PROBE STOCK DEALS OF BISHOP

New York, May 16.—(U.P.)—The United States senate lobby committee will investigate the stock market operations of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., it was learned at the office of United States Attorney Tuttle today.

A telegram received by Tuttle from Senator Caraway of the committee asked permission to send an investigator to examine the records of Goldhurst, Kable and Company, the stock brokerage firm with which Cannon had admitted he had dealings.

GREAT SWATH THROUGH NATION'S WINTER WHEAT

MIGHTY ARMY WILL SOON BE BIN MARCH FROM TEXAS TO NEBRASKA

HORDE OF HARVEST HANDS REINFORCED BY THE COMBINE HARVESTER

By GARRETT PORTER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Kansas City, Mo., May 16—A mighty army soon will begin its northward march from Texas to Nebraska, cutting a great swath through the nation's winter wheat empire.

Moving with this horde of harvest hands in its annual attack will be the combine harvester, an ally that threatens each year to fight more and more of the battle.

Harvester companies estimate that more than 75 per cent of the work this year will be by combine machines. Other observers, however, despite reported increases in harvester sales over last year, believe the machines will do only about 60 per cent. Labor estimates place this year's requirements for Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska at 30,000 men, approximately the same as last year.

A reason for the undiminished labor demands, in spite of combines and poor crop prospects, may be found in the crop report for Kansas, which says the state will require at least 15,000 harvest hands due to increased acreage.

While the report placed the Kansas prospects at 135,000,000 bushels, and the condition at 73 per cent of normal, almost eight points below the ten-year average, abandonment was estimated at 7.5 per cent of 12,687,000 acres, leaving 11,735,000 acres for harvest. This compares with 11,443,000 acres harvested last year and is 94,000 acres greater than the 1928 record.

Texans are expected to handle their own crop in the Panhandle without outside help. Strong, able men of the Ozarks and from the south, the most desirable hands, must race to Oklahoma before the state's labor needs are filled. Some observers have estimated that at least one-fourth of Oklahoma's wheat was ruined by drought.

WALTON BACK IN LIMELIGHT

ROSE FROM SALESMAN TO GOVERNOR, THEN RETIRED FOR 7 YEARS

Oklahoma City, May 16.—(U.P.)—J. C. "Jack" Walton, who rose from a salesman to governor, only to be ousted when he opposed the Ku Klux Klan, was back in the limelight today after seven years of virtual retirement.

He has filed suit in federal court asking damages of $250,000 from Plain Talk magazine, charging he was libeled in an article entitled "Whoopie in Oklahoma," written by Walter Liggett.

The former governor's suit concerns only one paragraph of the article in Plain Talk:

"Jack Walton, an alleged radical, was elected governor in 1922; he had a Klan card when he took the oath of office. He sold pardons, dispensed patronage, sought and accepted a $30,000 loan from Marland, the oil man."

HARRY ATWOOD NOW EDITOR OF MINNESOTA DAILY

Minneapolis, May 16.—(U.P.)—Harry Atwood, St. Cloud, today was named managing editor of the Minnesota Daily, University of Minnesota undergraduate newspaper.

The official announcement was made by the board in control of student publications. Atwood will serve during the next year. The appointment of Atwood was the second attempt of the student board to place him in the editorial post.

DISCUSS MEANS TO TIGHTEN PROHIBITION WORK IN WISCONSIN

St. Paul, May 16.—(U.P.)—Means of tightening prohibition enforcement in Wisconsin were discussed today by E. C. Yellowly, Chicago district administrator, and S. B. Qvale, northwest prohibition administrator.

Yellowly and his assistant, W. Frank Cunningham, came here from Milwaukee last night.

The group plans to combat "wildcat" breweries but declined to comment further on the nature of their conference.

Andrew J. Volstead, legal advisor of the northwest district, will retain his post when prohibition enforcement is transferred to the justice department, it was reported unofficially today.

WOMAN GETS YEAR SENTENCE FOR PASSING WORTHLESS CHECK

Minneapolis, May 16. — (U.P.) — Mrs. Alice Austin Mackay felt the impulse to send flowers to her mother last Sunday just as most of the rest of the world honored their mothers. She gave the florist a check.

Today she was sentenced to a year in the St. Paul workhouse for passing a worthless check. The court declined her plea for leniency when informed she had served five previous sentences on similar charges.

ACTIVELY FAVOR NINE-FOOT CHANNEL

St. Paul, May 16.—(U.P.)—George M. Landos, Ramsey county republican committee chairman, today wired Representative Melvin J. Maas on behalf of his organization "to use every effort with the administration for a nine-foot channel development on the upper Mississippi river now pending before the senate commerce committee."

PHILIPPINE CONSTABULARY TO FIGHT MOROS

Manila, P. I., May 16.—(U.P.)—Constabulary were preparing a mass attack today at Tugaya near Lake Lanao where Sultan Mamur and his rebellious Moro followers were entrenched, according to dispatches receivd here.

General Charles Nathers, constabulary commandant, was reported to have assumed personal command of the attack at Tugaya.

Another Step in the March of Aviation

President Hoover examining the model craft built by Donald Burnham, 15, West Lafayette, Ind. Burnham was one of the winners in a model plane contest conducted throughout the country. It was Burnham's plane that almost hit Hoover when it was launched into the air. Other young air enthusiasts who won in the plane model contest are shown in the group. They flew to Washington, D. C., in a Ford transport plane. The young builders are Donald Gardner, of Detroit; Ernest Marcoulier, of Chicago; Kenneth Mudie, of Detroit, and the winner, Donald Burnham.

Senate Ponders Over Tariff Bill Provisions, House Plans a Vote on the Ketcham Measure

KETCHAM BILL IS AN AID TO AGRICULTURE

NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL THEN TO BE TAKEN UP BY THE HOUSE

DUAL HEARINGS ON LONDON NAVAL LIMITATION TREATY SCHEDULED TODAY

Washington, May 16.—(U.P.) — While the senate pondered whether to stand by the debenture and flexible clause provisions of the tariff bill, the house today planned a vote on the Ketcham bill to establish a foreign service for the agriculture department.

FLOODS FOLLOW IN THE WAKE OF HEAVY RAINS

3 WEEKS' STEADY DOWNPOUR CAUSES TROUBLE IN OKLAHOMA

RIVERS AND CREEKS RISING STEADILY, SOME SPILL OVER BANKS

Oklahoma City, May 16. — (U.P.) — Floods that followed in the wake of three weeks of steady downpour and storms threatened in almost every section of Oklahoma today.

Rivers and creeks draining the watersheds of the heavy rain section rose steadily today and some spilled over their banks. Earth soaked by incessant rains shed virtually all moisture that has fallen the past three days.

The first loss of life resulting from the floods was reported at Durant where M. Rambo, highway patrolman, was washed from a bridge over the Little Blue river and drowned.

FORT TO RUN AS DRY FOR SENATE SEAT

Newark, N. J., May 16.—(U.P.)—Representative Franklin Fort, republican, announced today his candidacy for the United States senate on a dry platform.

He will oppose Ambassador Dwight Morrow of Englewood and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, both of whom are running on anti-prohibition platforms.

Retired School Teacher Dies From Injuries

Moorhead, Minn., May 16—(U.P.)—Miss Nellie O'Connor, 49, retired school teacher, died today from injuries received when struck by a Great Northern mail train at a city crossing.

READ, 84-YEAR-OLD FARMER-LAWYER, TO FIGHT NORRIS

"PROHIBITION WILL NEVER BE ENFORCED, NORRIS NOT UNBEATABLE," SAYS READ

Lincoln, Neb., May 16.—(U.P.)—Aaron C. Read, 84-year-old lawyer-farmer, bewhiskered and in a scrapping mood, breezed into his United States senatorial campaign today against Senator George W. Norris in the Nebraska republican primary.

Read, patriarch of four score years and four and equipped with a voice which boomed from behind a growth of white whiskers covering his face and spreading to where his vest begins, announced he felt 25 years younger and was ready to meet Norris, veteran senate leader whom Read called "the great objector."

The elderly politician spoke eagerly about his political philosophy, announcing: (1) Prohibition will never be enforced (2); the party advocating repeal or modification of prohibition laws will win the next presidential election; (3) Senator Norris not an "unbeatable man", and (4) he, Read, is in the campaign to fight to the last ditch.

"In spite of some eminent medical authorities to the contrary, I believe that alcoholic beverages have the proper and useful place in the scheme of things," Read said.

He said the majority party which would come out boldly for repeal or modification of the Volstead law would carry the next presidential election.

He feels his age does not bar him from becoming a political champion. There is no age limit, Read said, as long as a candidate is able to advocate a live issue. In the long run, however, "if a man has good sense, he would never enter politics."

"But I'm in this campaign to stay and no consideration whatever would buy me off to get out of the race," Read said.

Read recalled that two years ago he had entered the senatorial race only to be forced to withdraw when law suits, threatening to foreclose a mortgage on his old homestead at Madison, Neb., kept him "too busy to make a campaign." Two years previous to that, Read had been a republican congressional candidate but lost.

WILLIAM G. OWENS IS NEW ATTORNEY FOR FARM BOARD

Williston, N. D., May 16.—(U.P.)—William G. Owens, Williston lawyer, today accepted appointment as principal attorney for the Federal Farm board.

Owens wired his acceptance to Washington this morning. He expects to leave for the national capital on June 1 to assume his duties.

The attorney has been a resident of Williston for the past 20 years.

LOBBY COMMITTEE TO PROBE STOCK DEALS OF BISHOP

New York, May 16.—(U.P.)—The United States senate lobby committee will investigate the stock market operations of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., it was learned at the office of United States Attorney Tuttle today.

A telegram received by Tuttle from Senator Caraway of the committee asked permission to send an investigator to examine the records of Goldhurst, Kable and Company, the stock brokerage firm with which Cannon had admitted he had dealings.

GREAT SWATH THROUGH NATION'S WINTER WHEAT

MIGHTY ARMY WILL SOON BE-BIN MARCH FROM TEXAS TO NEBRASKA

By GARRETT PORTER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Kansas City, Mo., May 16—A mighty army soon will begin its northward march from Texas to Nebraska, cutting a great swath through the nation's winter wheat empire.

Moving with this horde of harvest hands in its annual attack will be the combine harvester, an ally that threatens each year to fight more and more of the battle.

Harvester companies estimate that more than 75 per cent of the work this year will be by combine machines. Other observers, however, despite reported increases in harvester sales over last year, believe the machines will do only about 60 per cent. Labor estimates place this year's requirements for Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska at 30,000 men, approximately the same as last year.

A reason for the undiminished labor demands, in spite of combines and poor crop prospects, may be found in the crop report for Kansas, which says the state will require at least 15,000 harvest hands due to increased acreage.

While the report placed the Kansas prospects at 135,000,000 bushels, and the condition at 73 per cent of normal, almost eight points below the ten-year average, abandonment was estimated at 7.5 per cent of 12,687,000 acres, leaving 11,735,000 acres for harvest. This compares with 11,443,000 acres harvested last year and is 94,000 acres greater than the 1928 record.

Texans are expected to handle their own crop in the Panhandle without outside help. Strong, able men of the Ozarks and from the south, the most desirable hands, must race to Oklahoma before the state's labor needs are filled. Some observers have estimated that at least one-fourth of Oklahoma's wheat was ruined by drought.

WALTON BACK IN LIMELIGHT

ROSE FROM SALESMAN TO GOVERNOR, THEN RETIRED FOR 7 YEARS

Oklahoma City, May 16.—(U.P.)—J. C. "Jack" Walton, who rose from a salesman to governor, only to be ousted when he opposed the Ku Klux Klan, was back in the limelight today after seven years of virtual retirement.

He has filed suit in federal court asking damages of $250,000 from Plain Talk magazine, charging he was libeled in an article entitled "Whoopie in Oklahoma," written by Walter Liggett.

The former governor's suit concerns only one paragraph of the article in Plain Talk:

"Jack Walton, an alleged radical, was elected governor in 1922; he had a Klan card when he took the oath of office. He sold pardons, dispensed patronage, sought and accepted a $30,000 loan from Marland, the oil man."

HARRY ATWOOD NOW EDITOR OF MINNESOTA DAILY

Minneapolis, May 16.—(U.P.)—Harry Atwood, St. Cloud, today was named managing editor of the Minnesota Daily, University of Minnesota undergraduate newspaper.

The official announcement was made by the board in control of student publications. Atwood will serve during the next year. The appointment of Atwood was the second attempt of the student board to place him in the editorial post.

MONTHLY REPORT OF 9TH FEDERAL RESERVE BANK PUBLISHED

VOLUME OF APRIL BUSINESS IS SMALLER THAN IN APRIL, 1929

Minneapolis, Minn., May 16.—(U.P.)—Northwest business conditions are improving, although they are not yet on a par with last year's affairs at this time, the monthly report of the ninth federal reserve bank showed today.

The volume of April business was somewhat smaller than last April but was on a higher level than in March, the report said after making allowances for seasonal variations.

Debits to individual accounts at clearing house banks in 17 trade centers showed as large a figure as the corresponding month last year. Minneapolis and St. Paul reported increases that offset losses in other districts.

Although the total business volume showed gains compared with earlier reports this year, it was still somewhat below that of a year ago.

A reduced cash farm income was reported from the district this month. Declines were shown in all estimated incomes except potatoes.

Electric power consumption and department store sales showed increases in April as compared with the same month last year, but decreases as compared with a year ago occurred in freight carloadings, postal receipts, building permits and contracts and flour and linseed product shipments. The increase in department store sales over the volume a year ago was due partly to the later date of Easter, which caused most of the pre-Easter buying to fall in April this year and in March a year ago.

The estimated cash income to farmers from the marketing of cash crops, hogs and dairy products in April was 28 per cent smaller than the income from the sources in April last year.

DISCUSS MEANS TO TIGHTEN PROHIBITION WORK IN WISCONSIN

St. Paul, May 16.—(U.P.)—Means of tightening prohibition enforcement in Wisconsin were discussed today by E. C. Yellowly, Chicago district administrator, and S. B. Qvale, northwest prohibition administrator.

Yellowly and his assistant, W. Frank Cunningham, came here from Milwaukee last night.

The group plans to combat "wildcat" breweries but declined to comment further on the nature of their conference.

Andrew J. Volstead, legal advisor of the northwest district, will retain his post when prohibition enforcement is transferred to the justice department, it was reported unofficially today.

WOMAN GETS YEAR SENTENCE FOR PASSING WORTHLESS CHECK

Minneapolis, May 16. — (U.P.) — Mrs. Alice Austin Mackay felt the impulse to send flowers to her mother last Sunday just as most of the rest of the world honored their mothers. She gave the florist a check.

Today she was sentenced to a year in the St. Paul workhouse for passing a worthless check. The court declined her plea for leniency when informed she had served five previous sentences on similar charges.

ACTIVELY FAVOR NINE-FOOT CHANNEL

St. Paul, May 16.—(U.P.)—George M. Landos, Ramsey county republican committee chairman, today wired Representative Melvin J. Maas on behalf of his organization "to use every effort with the administration for a nine-foot channel development on the upper Mississippi river now pending before the senate commerce committee."

PHILIPPINE CONSTABULARY TO FIGHT MOROS

Manila, P. I., May 16.—(U.P.)—Constabulary were preparing a mass attack today at Tugaya near Lake Lanao where Sultan Mamur and his rebellious Moro followers were entrenched, according to dispatches receivd here.

General Charles Nathorn, constabulary commandant, was reported to have assumed personal command of the attack at Tugaya.

Another Step in the March of Aviation

President Hoover examining the model craft built by Donald Burnham, 15, West Lafayette, Ind. Burnham was one of the winners in a model plane contest conducted throughout the country. It was Burnham's plane that almost hit Hoover when it was launched into the air. Other young air enthusiasts who won in the plane model contest are shown in the group. They flew to Washington, D. C., in a Ford transport plane. The young builders are Donald Gardner, of Detroit; Ernest Marcoulier, of Chicago; Kenneth Mudie, of Detroit, and the winner, Donald Burnham.

STOP CONSTIPATION AT THE START

You May Pay If You Don't

When you realize that about 90% of all sickness begins with constipation, you won't want to take chances. If you have the symptoms — bad breath, coated tongue, always tired —put a stop to them now!

But do it the natural way. Not with pills and drugs, which give but temporary relief and must be taken in increasing doses. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—an appetizing deliciously flavored cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sweeps the system clean of wastes and impurities. Its action is natural; the roughage carries with it the poisons which clog your system.

In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research shows that nearly all this iron goes into the blood, making it give the rich glow of healthy color.

You'll like ALL-BRAN. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Physicians recommend it. And we guarantee it to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. Two tablespoonfuls daily — with every meal, in recurring cases.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers in the red-and-green package. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

STOP CONSTIPATION AT THE START

You May Pay If You Don't

When you realize that about 90% of all sickness begins with constipation, you won't want to take chances. If you have the symptoms — bad breath, coated tongue, always tired —put a stop to them now!

But do it the natural way. Not with pills and drugs, which give but temporary relief and must be taken in increasing doses. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—an appetizing deliciously flavored cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sweeps the system clean of wastes and impurities. Its action is natural; the roughage carries with it the poisons which clog your system.

In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research shows that nearly all this iron goes into the blood, making it give the rich glow of healthy color.

You'll like ALL-BRAN. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Physicians recommend it. And we guarantee it to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. Two tablespoonfuls daily — with every meal, in recurring cases.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers in the red-and-green package. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

$11,000 VERDICT GIVEN TEACHER

Jury Out 11 Hours Ten Minutes Return Verdict Against Frank Orth

ERLAND OLSON EXONERATED

District Court Adjourns to Tuesday to Hear Criminal Cases on Calendar

Miss Dorothy Kretzschmar, Crosby teacher, was awarded a $11,000 verdict by a district court jury late yesterday for injuries sustained in a car accident March 15, 1930, while she was riding with the defendants to Brainerd on Highway No. 2.

The verdict was returned at 9:20 p. m. after the jury had deliberated since 10:10 a. m. the same day and was against Frank Orth, owner of the automobile.

Erland Olson, the other defendant and driver of the car was exonerated of blame.

Orth is a travelling salesman for an implement company and carried liability insurance. Olson is a bookkeeper at one of the mines on the Cuyuna Range.

The case required three days in court.

The plaintiff's attorneys, Murphy and Cook, of Crosby, presented evidence to show that Miss Kretzschmar's health had been impaired.

Attorneys Charles F. Kelly and Gordon D. Maghan of Minneapolis conducted the case for defendant Orth while Attorney D. B. McAlpine of Ironton represented Olson.

Testimony was introduced by the plaintiff's attorneys to show that Orth invited Miss Kretzschmar to ride with he and Olson to Brainerd and that a mile out of Ironton Miss Kretzschmar requested Orth to permit Olson to drive. Olson then drove the car until the accident occurred at the two mile corner on Oak street, the car colliding with a truck driven by Joe Kramer.

Evidence was presented that Orth had told Olson to "open her up" and that a maximum speed of 55 miles had been obtained.

Medical testimony revealed that because of the injuries Miss Kretzschmar sustained part of the bridge of her nose was removed and a number of her teeth had "gone dead."

The verdict was said also to aid in compensating Miss Kretzschmar for beauty damages to her features. She was reported as an attractive looking girl before "her accident."

There being no appearance in district court on the part of the plaintiff in the action of Rosko Brothers vs. LeRoy Gibbons et al, the case was dismissed on motion of the defendant. Failure of the defendant to make an appearance in the case of the Havatampa Cigar Co. vs. Harry O'Brien, the court declared the defendant in default and permitted the plaintiff to prove his case. Findings were ordered in favor of the plaintiff.

Judge B. F. Wright adjourned court today to Tuesday, May 20 at 9 a. m. at which time the criminal calendar will be tried.

In all probability the case of the State vs. Ole Sauge, also known as Ole Soggie will be tried first. Sauge is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of a woman at Ironton early this spring.

Other criminal cases to be heard at this term of court will be those of the State vs. Dwight McFerran charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of a Brainerd girl in a automobile accident on Ash avenue late last summer and the State vs. Charles Eue, charged with arson. Judge Wright denied the motion of defendant McFerran's attorney, C. A. Ryan for a continuance of the case over the term because of ill health of McFerran.

Church Orders Repairs

Repairs and improvements to the First Congregational church were ordered by the Board of Trustees of the church at a meeting last evening.

W. E. ERICKSON DIES EARLY TODAY

Was Partner in Grocery Business Here 20 Years; Had Community's Welfare at Heart

ON SCHOOL BOARD 13 YEARS

President of Board for Seven Years; Funeral From Congregational Church, Monday

W. E. Erickson of Nisswa formerly of Brainerd passed away early this morning at the St. Joseph's hospital in the presence of his immediate family.

Mr. Erickson came to Brainerd from Minneapolis in 1897 and with the exception of one year in the men's furnishing business was one of the leading grocers of the city. For 20 years he was in partnership with K. S. Bredenberg in Southeast Brainerd under the name of Bredenberg and Erickson; for nine years Mr. Erickson conducted a grocery store on South Sixth and for the past three years he has enjoyed a pleasing patronage at Nisswa.

The deceased was a public spirited man, interested in people and matters pertaining to the welfare of the community; he was 13 years on the board of education and had the distinction of serving for seven years as its president. He was also a member of the Evergreen Cemetery association for many years.

Mr. Erickson was born in Sweden in 1865 and came to this country as a small boy, he was married to Mary Jane Herring in 1894 and leaves his widow, three children and three grandchildren, Mrs. G. P. Sheridan of Rochester, Minn.; Mrs. H. S. Durham of Brainerd, Roy W., formerly of Rochester. The grandchildren are Douglas Maynard and Mary Jane Sheridan of Rochester; Richard Durham of Brainerd. In addition he leaves two brothers and three sisters: Albert Erickson, Oscar Erickson and Mrs. K. S. Bredenberg of Brainerd; Mrs. Emma Peterson and Mrs. R. H. McKay of Minneapolis.

A number of out of town relatives of Mrs. Erickson will attend the funeral also the Rev. Dr. G. P. Sheridan of Rochester who is a son-in-law.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Congregational church. The Rev. N. P. Olmsted will officiate. The body will be taken from the D. E. Whitney mortuary on Monday at 1:30 a. m. to the church and lie in state until the hour of the funeral service. A complete list of pallbearers will be published later.

Tigers Club

The Tiger's club of the Y. M. C. A. under the leadership of I. L. Peterson will leave this evening on an outing up the river. They will camp tonight at French Rapids, returning tomorrow evening.

FUN FROLIC, LIBRARY BENEFIT

Given Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening Under Direction of Miss Prentice

A fun frolic for the benefit of the juvenile department of the Brainerd public library will be given tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock by members of the juvenile department under the direction of Miss Prentice. The frolic will be given in the basement of the library.

The fun frolic will open with a program consisting of dances, humorous selections, readings, etc., for which a small admission charge will be made. The fun frolic proper follows the program, at which there will be no charge for admission. There will be balloons ice cream, pop, home made candy, bars, make-up booths, fish pond and other attractions for everyone's enjoyment.

About 20 children of the juvenile department will take part in the program. An invitation is extended to a to come.

"NAUTICAL KNOT" PRESENTED TONIGHT

BEAUTIFUL COSTUMES

Plot is Interesting, Deals With Love Affairs of Sailors and Girls

The last finishing touches have been given to the "Nautical Knot," the high school operetta that is presented this evening at 8:15 o'clock at the high school auditorium. The voices are uniformly superior to those of any previous musical performance given by the students in a number of years. The costuming is of the type that can only be described as gorgeous in the extreme, and withal of such variety that all tastes will be pleased. Sailors costumes in blue and white adorn the rollicking sailors, while Barnstapoole girls and townspeople vie with each other in beruffled gowns nd velvet suits for the attentions of these same sailors.

The plot is interesting and deals with the love affairs of sailors and girls. While the sailors are away on a year's voyage, the girls comfort themselves with the attentions of some wandering artists. Imagine the dismay of the sailors on their return to find their lady loves so cold and distant and inappreciative. Gloom descends upon them and then wrath at the cold and distant attitude of the girls, so they retliate in like fashion.

The plot centers around the love of Nancy and Julia, Joe Stout and Barnabas Lee, into whose lives old Bill Salt, boatswain of the "Bounding Billow" projects sorrow and unhappiness all inadvertantly, until he offers to sacrifice his own single blessedness to clear up the difficulty. Delia, Dora and Daisy, the leading Barnstapoole girls add to the gayety of the affair by clever acting and singing. With these people singing the solos, the evening's entertainment is assured.

Add to this a specialty act of the "Sweetheart" chorus, where girls in costumes from the grass skirts of Timbuctoo to the lace mantilla of Spain, and you have an evening of color and lovely music.

Other specialties are a sailor's hornpipe by Ray Nelson and a vrey pretty dance between acts by Beverly Swanson, Elaine Weisz, Geraldine Boganstoss, and Donna Tyrholm.

Celebrates 70th Birthday

Mrs. Elizabeth Puetz celebrated her 70th birthday Sunday at the old farm home at St. Mathias, with her children Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Puetz, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Berbee, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Puetz of St. Mathias; Mrs. Walter F. Dunstan of St. Paul and Jake Muller of Brainerd. Mrs. Muller, who has been confined to her bed for the past two weeks, was unable to attend.

Twenty grandchildren also gathered at the home, and a few close neighbors and friends.

Cards were enjoyed during the afternoon, followed by a 6 o'clock dinner. Mrs. Puetz received many beautiful gifts from her relatives and friends, and also was wished many happy returns of the day.

The W. B. A. will hold a rummage sale Saturday, May 24, at the former Peterson shoe repair shop, 7th and Front streets. Those having donations for the sale that they wish called for, please notify Mrs. C. H. Warner, president.

Perlina Jane Miller Burial Here Tomorrow

Mrs. Perlina Jane Miller, widow, of Lake Edwards township, formerly of Brainerd, died at her home at 12:50 a. m. today from pneumonia at the age of 74 years.

Funeral rites will be conducted from Whitney's undertaking parlors at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, Rev. F. A. Kufas, pastor of the First M. E. church, Brainerd, officiating. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

Present for the funeral will be Mrs. Anna St. Cyr, Mrs. L. Peterson of Minneapolis, daughters and Fred Miller, Minneapolis, son. Mrs. Gene Stallman, of Culver City, Calif., a daughter, will be unable to attend.

MOTORING NO LONGER REQUIRES "costumes"

The linen duster, goggles and the motoring veil went out of fashion when people stopped thinking of the automobile as "the horseless carriage." Nowadays, nobody puts on special apparel for a Sunday drive. ¶ And Shell Motor Oil has helped make motoring a matter-of-fact necessity. As the automobile developed, Shell has regularly anticipated lubrication requirements. Always a step ahead, it is ready now for the models which will be announced next year. ¶ That is why owners of all kinds of cars are turning to Shell Motor Oil in ever increasing numbers for the protection they know their engines must have. All the world knows that if the Shell organization cannot make a quality lubricant, no organization can. Have you tried it?

Mr. Erickson came to Brainerd from Minneapolis in 1897 and with the exception of one year in the men's furnishing business was one of the leading grocers of the city. For 20 years he was in partnership with K. S. Bredenberg in Southeast Brainerd under the name of Bredenberg and Erickson; for nine years Mr. Erickson conducted a grocery store on South Sixth and for the past three years he has enjoyed a pleasing patronage at Nisswa.

The deceased was a public spirited man, interested in people and matters pertaining to the welfare of the community; he was 13 years on the board of education and had the distinction of serving for seven years as its president. He was also a member of the Evergreen Cemetery association for many years.

Mr. Erickson was born in Sweden in 1865 and came to this country as a small boy, he was married to Mary Jane Herring in 1894 and leaves his widow, three children and three grandchildren, Mrs. G. P. Sheridan of Rochester, Minn.; Mrs. H. S. Durham of Brainerd, Roy W., formerly of Rochester. The grandchildren are Douglas Maynard and Mary Jane Sheridan of Rochester; Richard Durham of Brainerd. In addition he leaves two brothers and three sisters: Albert Erickson, Oscar Erickson and Mrs. K. S. Bredenberg of Brainerd; Mrs. Emma Peterson and Mrs. R. H. McKay of Minneapolis.

A number of out of town relatives of Mrs. Erickson will attend the funeral also the Rev. Dr. G. P. Sheridan of Rochester who is a son-in-law.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Congregational church. The Rev. N. P. Olmsted will officiate. The body will be taken from the D. E. Whitney mortuary on Monday at 1:30 a. m. to the church and lie in state until the hour of the funeral service. A complete list of pallbearers will be published later.

Tigers Club

The Tiger's club of the Y. M. C. A. under the leadership of I. L. Peterson will leave this evening on an outing up the river. They will camp tonight at French Rapids, returning tomorrow evening.

FUN FROLIC, LIBRARY BENEFIT

Given Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening Under Direction of Miss Prentice

A fun frolic for the benefit of the juvenile department of the Brainerd public library will be given tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock by members of the juvenile department under the direction of Miss Prentice. The frolic will be given in the basement of the library.

The fun frolic will open with a program consisting of dances, humorous selections, readings, etc., for which a small admission charge will be made. The fun frolic proper follows the program, at which there will be no charge for admission. There will be balloons ice cream, pop, home made candy, bars, make-up booths, fish pond and other attractions for everyone's enjoyment.

About 20 children of the juvenile department will take part in the program. An invitation is extended to a to come.

Coroner Whitney Files

Coroner D. E. Whitney filed yesterday at the county auditor's office to succeed himself at the forthcomnig eletcion. He is the only one to file for the office to date.

NOTICE

Sealed bids will be received by the City Council of the City of Brainerd until 8:00 p.m. on the Twenty-sixth (26th) day of May, 1930, for grading, paving with concrete, and constructing concrete curbing along the following streets in said city as stated in a resolution adopted April 21st, 1930, and in accordance with plans and specifications on file in the office of the City Clerk of Brainerd.

"NAUTICAL KNOT" PRESENTED TONIGHT

BEAUTIFUL COSTUMES

Plot is Interesting, Deals With Love Affairs of Sailors and Girls

The last finishing touches have been given to the "Nautical Knot," the high school operetta that is presented this evening at 8:15 o'clock at the high school auditorium. The voices are uniformly superior to those of any previous musical performance given by the students in a number of years. The costuming is of the type that can only be described as gorgeous in the extreme, and withal of such variety that all tastes will be pleased. Sailors costumes in blue and white adorn the rollicking sailors, while Barnstapoole girls and townspeople vie with each other in beruffled gowns nd velvet suits for the attentions of these same sailors.

The plot is interesting and deals with the love affairs of sailors and girls. While the sailors are away on a year's voyage, the girls comfort themselves with the attentions of some wandering artists. Imagine the dismay of the sailors on their return to find their lady loves so cold and distant and inappreciative. Gloom descends upon them and then wrath at the cold and distant attitude of the girls, so they retliate in like fashion.

The plot centers around the love of Nancy and Julia, Joe Stout and Barnabas Lee, into whose lives old Bill Salt, boatswain of the "Bounding Billow" projects sorrow and unhappiness all inadvertantly, until he offers to sacrifice his own single blessedness to clear up the difficulty. Delia, Dora and Daisy, the leading Barnstapoole girls add to the gayety of the affair by clever acting and singing. With these people singing the solos, the evening's entertainment is assured.

Add to this a specialty act of the "Sweetheart" chorus, where girls in costumes from the grass skirts of Timbuctoo to the lace mantilla of Spain, and you have an evening of color and lovely music.

Other speciaities are a sailor's hornpipe by Ray Nelson and a vrey pretty dance between acts by Beverly Swanson, Elaine Weisz, Geraldine Boganstoss, and Donna Tyrholm.

Celebrates 70th Birthday

Mrs. Elizabeth Puetz celebrated her 70th birthday Sunday at the old farm home at St. Mathias, with her children Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Puetz, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Berbee, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Puetz of St. Mathias; Mrs. Walter F. Dunstan of St. Paul and Jake Muller of Brainerd. Mrs. Muller, who has been confined to her bed for the past two weeks, was unable to attend.

Twenty grandchildren also gathered at the home, and a few close neighbors and friends.

Cards were enjoyed during the afternoon, followed by a 6 o'clock dinner. Mrs. Puetz received many beautiful gifts from her relatives and friends, and also was wished many happy returns of the day.

W. B. A. Rummage Sale

The W. B. A. will hold a rummage sale Saturday, May 24, at the former Peterson shoe repair shop, 7th and Front streets. Those having donations for the sale that they wish called for, please notify Mrs. C. H. Warner, president.

MOTORING NO LONGER REQUIRES "costumes"

The linen duster, goggles and the motoring veil went out of fashion when people stopped thinking of the automobile as "the horseless carriage." Nowadays, nobody puts on special apparel for a Sunday drive. ¶ And Shell Motor Oil has helped make motoring a matter-of-fact necessity. As the automobile developed, Shell has regularly anticipated lubrication requirements. Always a step ahead, it is ready now for the models which will be announced next year. ¶ That is why owners of all kinds of cars are turning to Shell Motor Oil in ever increasing numbers for the protection they know their engines must have. All the world knows that if the Shell organization cannot make a quality lubricant, no organization can. Have you tried it?

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION

No. 3415

State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss., in Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Eva C. Brown, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to All Whom it May Concern:

WHEREAS, Opal Brown has filed in this Court her petition stating, among other things, that she is a daughter and an heir of the above named decedent; that said decedent died intestate, a resident of the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, left property in the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, and was a citizen of the United States of America; and praying that administration of her estate be granted to Opal Brown;

THEREFORE, You are hereby cited to be and appear before said Court on the 2nd day of June, 1930, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Court House, in the City of Brainerd, in said County and State, and show cause, if any you have, why said petition should not be granted.

Dated May 9, 1930.

ROOMER RESENTS REQUEST MADE

ASKED TO BE QUIET, ST. PAUL MAN STABS ANTON ANDERSON

St. Paul, Minn., May 16. — (UP) — Stabbed by a man whom he had asked to refrain from making noise while he was sleeping, Anton Anderson, 35, was reported near death today with a punctured left lung.

Detective Harry O'Keefe who investigated the case said Onofiro DeFino, 36, stabbed Anderson when the latter asked DeFino, his wife and Mrs. Jeanette Mitchell, a roomer at the DeFino home, to refrain from making undue noise. The two men quarreled and DeFino drew a knife. Anderson ran out the door but DeFino chased him and stabbed him, the detective said.

The three persons in the DeFino home were held by police today.

TRIUMPH OF VINDICATION

JURY FINDS GOV. KOHLER NOT GUILTY OF VIOLATING CAMPAIGN LAWS

Sheboygan, Wis., May 16.—(UP)—The triumph of vindication was Governor Walter J. Kohler's today in consequence of a jury's verdict finding him not guilty of alleged violations of the Wisconsin corrupt practices act.

His trial, in which his removal from office was sought on charges of excessive campaign expenditures in the 1928 primary election, was brought to an end last night when he was acquitted. The jury's dleiberations lasted only an hour and a half and the verdict was unanimous on one ballot.

The state's special prosecutors met the defeat by turning today to the task of preparing a motion for a new trial of the ouster suit, judgment on which will be made final by Judge Gustav Gehrz within the next several days, when he decides whether the jury's verdict is to be upheld or overruled.

An appeal is to be taken to the state supreme court, it was announced, in event the verdict is sustained.

10,000 PIKE CAUGHT IN MILLE LACS FIRST DAY

More Than 2,000 Fishermen Invade Big Lake; Majority Catch Limit of Eight

LUCK CONTINUES TODAY

Hundreds of Tourists, the Vanguard of Thousands, Reach Brainerd for Lake Country

A conservative estimate of the number of wall-eyed pike taken from Mille Lacs Lake yesterday, the opening of the pike season, was placed today at 10,000.

Fully 2,000 fisherman took to boats in the popular early season fishing lake and the majority of these were known to have caught the limit which is placed at eight per person.

Fishing at Mille Lacs Lake will be good for at least two weeks longer, veterans at the sport predicted. After that, they implied, the fishing will be considered as only fair and the majority of fishermen will invade other lakes in the district.

A number of fishermen tried out Wilson and Gull Lakes yesterday and found the fishing good for so early in the season. These two lakes as well as the other lakes in the vicinity of Brainerd will come into their own more as the season continues.

There's an old saying among fishermen in these parts. Go to Mille Lacs the first week and then hit elsewhere.

The opening of the season found hundreds of tourists, dressed in their outdoor garb, in Brainerd yesterday and toady. They were only the vanguard of thousands to come.

No accidents were reported on any of the lakes in the district for yesterday and today.

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER XXVI.

AND one day when the studio door had been left open, Eve overheard Fifi turn upon Ken and in a sputter of French and English, declare that he was a fool.

"I shall now go home to my work and leave you to zis so gauche predicament," she cried furiously. "And when you wish me again for zat 'chic type' you may send and I shall return—perhaps."

And she flounced out and Eve knew Ken did no more work that day. And that he would not send for Fifi. Perhaps her burlesque had spoiled the "chic type" for him; at any rate, he was through.

And when the studio had been silent for a very long time and Eve ventured to peep in she found him sitting before the unfinished portrait of herself leaning above a little old fashioned cradle.

He looked up and his eyes were full of hurt. "I don't suppose—well, it's a lot to ask, but if you'd feel like helping me out, Eve," he began humbly. "Been thinking about this; it's going to be fine. Only I don't want to be a bother. And if you could fix your hair a little—"

"Oh, Ken!" With a shaky laugh that caught in her throat, and set her eyes smarting, she ran her hands over her head and the short, soft hair suddenly fluffed into a shining cap of ringlets. "That better, Ken? You like me now?" But, as he came toward her, she put out her hands as if to hold him away, her face a bit white.

"Wait, Ken—" She ran into the bedroom, tore off the middy and serge skirt, threw them into a corner. From the back of the closet she brought the flounced white dress she had worn the day they invaded the attic at Lakeview and he began the portrait of her beside the cradle.

Slowly she went back to him, blushing and dimpling. "I'm ready, Ken. All ready, now."

Eve had won. As lightly as he had drifted into his flirtation with Fifi Devoe, Ken drifted out of it again, letting it go without a backward glance. While her face with its piquancy accented and played upon so skilfully that it became rather Oriental, rather haunting, smiled at the world from all the newsstands with Ken's name signed below, he seemed to have forgotten that she had been a lure through his days, an inspiration to his fancies.

Ken's wife never could grow accustomed to the thought of this, that a woman could so stir a man's imagination and then be quickly and completely put out of his mind.

Now that she had won him back, she gave up the struggle to chatter and laugh and jerk about all the time. She rolled the middy and strapped sandals and cotton stockings into a bundle and presented them to the laundress and once more went about polishing ash trays and dusting tables and chairs.

Ken's flirtation was over, and he had forgotten it. But Eve had not forgotten. And no matter how she tried, she could not drop the feeling that she had been tricky and cheap. This was the scar the thing had left upon her love for Ken, and always as long as she lived it would remain so, the tiny memory which marred beauty.

In his new humility he came to her, half timid and half hopeful and asked if she would like to drive up to Lakeview for a weekend.

"We planned to go before this, sweetheart. Sort of slipped my mind.... I expect you're lonesome for Uncle Mat. I'd like this, Eve; really enjoy it."

She was touched by his sweetness and a warm new happiness went flooding into her heart. He was doing this to please her since he would be satisfied to remain forever within The Lane. Perhaps he realized how he had hurt her and wished to make up for it in such an adorable, boyish way. They'd have a better understanding now; there never could be another episode like Fifi Devoe.

They started out on a Friday afternoon, Ken very gay, very tender, and Eve cuddled at his side, smiling whenever she caught his look, so contented and happy he seemed. Yet deep in her heart lurked a wraith of sadness, a sense of regret for something which had been and was not. The fields were sere now; late Autumn had taken the flowing green of Summer and the great trees stretched stark limbs to a gray sky.

And Uncle Mat had failed like the Summer. He met them tremulously, giving Ken a hand that had grown thinner, more transparent. He lay upon a couch in the library a great deal of the time, and Eve sorrowfully refused to leave his side.

"It's the way of life, dear," he told her. "The old passes and the new has its day. You will feel this in years to come—see your children growing up about you—your bonny face fading. Yet you'll always be bonny, dear, for beauty is a thing of spirit."

"That's why we all love you, Uncle Mat," she told him softly. But she thought of what he had said. Children growing up about her; children brought into The Lane. Ivy would not allow her little son to live in what she called that mess.

One married and made a home for a new generation; this was the justification of marriage, love and the fulfillment children brought. But there were no children in The Lane. She spoke of this to Ken one day when they had gone home and she had taken him to look at the old farmhouse next door to the Stewart place.

But first there was the call they paid Miss Madge Morgan on the way back to Haverford. She greeted them in her bluff, booming voice, giving Eve a handclasp that made her fingers tingle, and kissing Ken. And she took them into her suite at the hotel where a fire burned in the grate and cocktails waited on the tea table, and produced Puss Southwick, who still was her guest.

"But I'm leaving soon now," Puss purred very prettily, fluttering her lashes at Ken. "You'll see me walking into your studio one of these days. If you'll promise," she added slyly, "not to put me in your pictures."

It was what women always were saying to Ken, Eve thought. All of them crazy to pose and throwing out this bait. He looked at the slim little blonde and did not rise to it. Not this time. And presently he said they must go since the roads were puzzling after dark. And home again he once more lifted Eve from the car and carried her into the house.

He was boyish and gentle and humble, following her about, eager to please. It was Ken who suggested that they spend a bleak December Sunday with Jimmy and Mary and their tiny son. Mary had become very maternal, mothering everybody as well as the mite who was, she insisted, his father right over again. And she had a reason for packing Eve and Ken over to look at the old farmhouse.

"You could make a real home of it," she whispered to Eve. "Don't say too much, darling. We have to do the thinking for our husbands, sort of."

"Conspirator!" But Eve kissed her and all the time she was leading Ken through the bare old-fashioned rooms there was a glow at her heart, a stirring of hope.

"Don't you love it, dear? It's almost like the house at Lakeview. Mary says it's for sale quite reasonably. You could have the whole north side of the second floor for your studio and—and—wouldn't you like it, Ken?"

He had been interested but now his humor slumped. "You mean for us? To live in? But away off here! Away from everything—buried out here——"

"It's away from The Lane, though I don't see why that's important."

He gave her an exasperated look and turned away. And she realized he would not leave The Lane. And all at once this seemed tremendously unfair for she kept thinking of Uncle Mat and what he had said, "your children growing up about you." And of Ivy Carr, who would not bring her little son into the scatter-brained life of the tribe.

Ken the artist and Ken the husband—had she done wrong to marry him? Was it true that folks like Ken were a law to themselves and that they could not live like other more ordinary and perhaps happier people lived?

Eve was growing rather tired of the tribe and its eternal search for amusement. There were times when she longed for the safe and sane quiet Mary and Jimmy had. And when she wished that Ken's concept of herself bending above the little old-fashioned cradle might be more than just a lovely picture.

Winter wore along. Elma and Chuck moved into town early in January, and one Sunday Ken and Eve drove in for tea with them. Their rooms were filled with the same sort of crowd that gathered in The Lane; they talked the same language, went through the same poses, looked the same, only their names were different.

One stood out in Eve's thoughts as distinctive; a tall, sinuous girl with sophisticated green eyes and lips painted very red against a white face. Miss Lilas Allan she was and Elma confided that she had done some landscapes and had spent much time in Paris.

Eve had no word with Miss Allan beyond a casual introduction but she remembered the tall young woman because of something half scornful, half antagonistic in her manner toward Ken. Women did not act that way toward Ken and it amused Eve and surprised her, particularly as she understood very well that Ken did not know what to make it.

In February, Nory's new novel was published and Eve felt some of the joy of the creator because of the small part she had had in its preparation.

In March, Janet, who had conducted a woman's department on a magazine lost her job. Someone in a fit of jealous spite had written Jan's employers about Clayton and when she had refused to give him up she was discharged and now went about in a panic lest Clayt leave her when her money was gone.

In April, which turned out to be a raw, blustery month in the Haverford Hills, Ivy first appeared with a Mr. Monteith Clark who was, she told everybody, not an artist. And she added "Thank Heaven."

And by the first of May it seemed incredible to Eve that Ken ever in the world could have been involved in a flirtation with Fifi Devoe, or with anybody, for that matter, so settled and work-a-day and almost Babbit-like had they become in their housekeeping, reading of evenings, movies in Haverford once or twice a week.

Then the Hollys opened their cottage and announced that they must have a party.

ROOMER RESENTS REQUEST MADE

ASKED TO BE QUIET, ST. PAUL MAN STABS ANTON ANDERSON

St. Paul, Minn., May 16. — (UP) — Stabbed by a man whom he had asked to refrain from making noise while he was sleeping, Anton Anderson, 35, was reported near death today with a punctured left lung.

Detective Harry O'Keefe who investigated the case said Onofiro DeFino, 36, stabbed Anderson when the latter asked DeFino, his wife and Mrs. Jeanette Mitchell, a roomer at the DeFino home, to refrain from making undue noise. The two men quarreled and DeFino drew a knife. Anderson ran out the door but DeFino chased him and stabbed him, the detective said.

The three persons in the DeFino home were held by police today.

TRIUMPH OF VINDICATION

JURY FINDS GOV. KOHLER NOT GUILTY OF VIOLATING CAMPAIGN LAWS

Sheboygan, Wis., May 16.—(U.P.)—The triumph of vindication was Governor Walter J. Kohler's today in consequence of a jury's verdict finding him not guilty of alleged violations of the Wisconsin corrupt practices act.

His trial, in which his removal from office was sought on charges of excessive campaign expenditures in the 1928 primary election, was brought to an end last night when he was acquitted. The jury's dleiberations lasted only an hour and a half and the verdict was unanimous on one ballot.

The state's special prosecutors met the defeat by turning today to the task of preparing a motion for a new trial of the ouster suit, judgment on which will be made final by Judge Gustav Gehrz within the next several days, when he decides whether the jury's verdict is to be upheld or overruled.

An appeal is to be taken to the state supreme court, it was announced, in event the verdict is sustained.

10,000 PIKE CAUGHT IN MILLE LACS FIRST DAY

More Than 2,000 Fishermen Invade Big Lake; Majority Catch Limit of Eight

LUCK CONTINUES TODAY

Hundreds of Tourists, the Vanguard of Thousands, Reach Brainerd for Lake Country

A conservative estimate of the numoer of wall-eyed pike taken from Mille Lacs Lake yesterday, the opening of the pike season, was placed today at 10,000.

Fully 2,000 fisherman took to boats in the popular early season fishing lake and the majority of these were known to have caught the limit which is placed at eight per person.

Fishing at Mille Lacs Lake will be good for at least two weeks longer, veterans at the sport predicted. After that, they implied, the fishing will be considered as only fair and the majority of fishermen will invade other lakes in the district.

A number of fishermen tried out Wilson and Gull Lakes yesterday and found the fishing good for so early in the season. These two lakes as well as the other lakes in the vicinity of Brainerd will come into their own more as the season continues.

There's an old saying among fishermen in these parts. Go to Mille Lacs the first week and then hit elsewhere.

The opening of the season found hundreds of tourists, dressed in their outdoor garb, in Brainerd yesterday and toady. They were only the vanguard of thousands to come.

No accidents were reported on any of the lakes in the district for yesterday and today.

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER XXVI.

AND one day when the studio door had been left open, Eve overheard Fifi turn upon Ken and in a sputter of French and English, declare that he was a fool.

"I shall now go home to my work and leave you to zis so gauche predicament," she cried furiously. "And when you wish me again for zat 'chic type' you may send and I shall return—perhaps."

And she flounced out and Eve knew Ken did no more work that day. And that he would not send for Fifi. Perhaps her burlesque had spoiled the "chic type" for him; at any rate, he was through.

And when the studio had been silent for a very long time and Eve ventured to peep in she found him sitting before the unfinished portrait of herself leaning above a little old fashioned cradle.

He looked up and his eyes were full of hurt. "I don't suppose—well, it's a lot to ask, but if you'd feel like helping me out, Eve," he began humbly. "Been thinking about this; it's going to be fine. Only I don't want to be a bother. And if you could fix your hair a little—"

"Oh, Ken!" With a shaky laugh that caught in her throat, and set her eyes smarting, she ran her hands over her head and the short, soft hair suddenly fluffed into a shining cap of ringlets. "That better, Ken? You like me now?" But, as he came toward her, she put out her hands as if to hold him away, her face a bit white.

"Wait, Ken—" She ran into the bedroom, tore off the middy and serge skirt, threw them into a corner. From the back of the closet she brought the flounced white dress she had worn the day they invaded the attic at Lakeview and he began the portrait of her beside the cradle.

Slowly she went back to him, blushing and dimpling. "I'm ready, Ken. All ready, now."

Eve had won. As lightly as he had drifted into his flirtation with Fifi Devoe, Ken drifted out of it again, letting it go without a backward glance. While her face with its piquancy accented and played upon so skilfully that it became rather Oriental, rather haunting, smiled at the world from all the newsstands with Ken's name signed below, he seemed to have forgotten that she had been a lure through his days, an inspiration to his fancies.

Ken's wife never could grow accustomed to the thought of this, that a woman could so stir a man's imagination and then be quickly and completely put out of his mind.

Now that she had won him back, she gave up the struggle to chatter and laugh and jerk about all the time. She rolled the middy and strapped sandals and cotton stockings into a bundle and presented them to the laundress and once more went about polishing ash trays and dusting tables and chairs.

Ken's flirtation was over, and he had forgotten it. But Eve had not forgotten. And no matter how she tried, she could not drop the feeling that she had been tricky and cheap. This was the scar the thing had left upon her love for Ken, and always as long as she lived it would remain so, the tiny memory which marred beauty.

In his new humility he came to her, half timid and half hopeful and asked if she would like to drive up to Lakeview for a week-end.

"We planned to go before this, sweetheart. Sort of slipped my mind.... I expect you're lonesome for Uncle Mat. I'd like this, Eve; really enjoy it."

She was touched by his sweetness and a warm new happiness went flooding into her heart. He was doing this to please her since he would be satisfied to remain forever within The Lane. Perhaps he realized how he had hurt her and wished to make up for it in such an adorable, boyish way. They'd have a better understanding now; there never could be another episode like Fifi Devee.

They started out on a Friday afternoon, Ken very gay, very tender, and Eve cuddled at his side, smiling whenever she caught his look, so contented and happy he seemed. Yet deep in her heart lurked a wraith of sadness, a sense of regret for something which had been and was not. The fields were sere now; late Autumn had taken the flowing green of Summer and the great trees stretched stark limbs to a gray sky.

And Uncle Mat had failed like the Summer. He met them tremulously, giving Ken a hand that had grown thinner, more transparent. He lay upon a couch in the library a great deal of the time, and Eve sorrowfully refused to leave his side.

"It's the way of life, dear," he told her. "The old passes and the new has its day. You will feel this in years to come—see your children growing up about you—your bonny face fading. Yet you'll always be bonny, dear, for beauty is a thing of spirit."

"That's why we all love you, Uncle Mat," she told him softly. But she thought of what he had said. Children growing up about her; children brought into The Lane. Ivy would not allow her little son to live in what she called that mess.

One married and made a home for a new generation; this was the justification of marriage, love and the fulfillment children brought. But there were no children in The Lane. She spoke of this to Ken one day when they had gone home and she had taken him to look at the old farmhouse next door to the Stewart place.

But first there was the call they paid Miss Madge Morgan on the way back to Haverford. She greeted them in her bluff, booming voice, giving Eve a handclasp that made her fingers tingle, and kissing Ken. And she took them into her suite at the hotel where a fire burned in the grate and cocktails waited on the tea table, and produced Puss Southwick, who still was her guest.

"But I'm leaving soon now," Puss purred very prettily, fluttering her lashes at Ken. "You'll see me walking into your studio one of these days. If you'll promise," she added slyly, "not to put me in your pictures."

It was what women always were saying to Ken, Eve thought. All of them crazy to pose and throwing out this bait. He looked at the slim little blonde and did not rise to it. Not this time. And presently he said they must go since the roads were puzzling after dark. And home again he once more lifted Eve from the car and carried her into the house.

He was boyish and gentle and humble, following her about, eager to please. It was Ken who suggested that they spend a bleak December Sunday with Jimmy and Mary and their tiny son. Mary had become very maternal, mothering everybody as well as the mite who was, she insisted, his father right over again. And she had a reason for packing Eve and Ken over to look at the old farmhouse.

"You could make a real home of it," she whispered to Eve. "Don't say too much, darling. We have to do the thinking for our husbands, sort of."

"Conspirator!" But Eve kissed her and all the time she was leading Ken through the bare old-fashioned rooms there was a glow at her heart, a stirring of hope.

"Don't you love it, dear? It's almost like the house at Lakeview. Mary says it's for sale quite reasonably. You could have the whole north side of the second floor for your studio and—and—wouldn't you like it, Ken?"

He had been interested but now his humor slumped. "You mean for us? To live in? But away off here! Away from everything—buried out here——"

He gave her an exasperated look and turned away. And she realized he would not leave The Lane. And all at once this seemed tremendously unfair for she kept thinking of Uncle Mat and what he had said, "your children growing up about you." And of Ivy Carr, who would not bring her little son into the scatter-brained life of the tribe.

Ken the artist and Ken the husband—had she done wrong to marry him? Was it true that folks like Ken were a law to themselves and that they could not live like other more ordinary and perhaps happier people lived?

Eve was growing rather tired of the tribe and its eternal search for amusement. There were times when she longed for the safe and sane quiet Mary and Jimmy had. And when she wished that Ken's concept of herself bending above the little old-fashioned cradle might be more than just a lovely picture.

Winter wore along. Elma and Chuck moved into town early in January, and one Sunday Ken and Eve drove in for tea with them. Their rooms were filled with the same sort of crowd that gathered in The Lane; they talked the same language, went through the same poses, looked the same, only their names were different.

One stood out in Eve's thoughts as distinctive; a tall, sinuous girl with sophisticated green eyes and lips painted very red against a white face. Miss Lilas Allan she was and Elma confided that she had done some landscapes and had spent much time in Paris.

Eve had no word with Miss Allan beyond a casual introduction but she remembered the tall young woman because of something half scornful, half antagonistic in her manner toward Ken. Women did not act that way toward Ken and it amused Eve and surprised her, particularly as she understood very well that Ken did not know what to make it.

In February, Nory's new novel was published and Eve felt some of the joy of the creator because of the small part she had had in its preparation.

In March, Janet, who had conducted a woman's department on a magazine lost her job. Someone in a fit of jealous spite had written Jan's employers about Clayton and when she had refused to give him up she was discharged and now went about in a panic lest Clayt leave her when her money was gone.

In April, which turned out to be a raw, blustery month in the Haverford Hills, Ivy first appeared with a Mr. Monteith Clark who was, she told everybody, not an artist. And she added "Thank Heaven."

And by the first of May it seemed incredible to Eve that Ken ever in the world could have been involved in a flirtation with Fifi Devoe, or with anybody, for that matter, so settled and work-a-day and almost Babbit-like had they become in their housekeeping, reading of evenings, movies in Haverford once or twice a week.

Then the Hollys opened their cottage and announced that they must have a party.

How's the Road Ahead?

IF Minnesota is not going to pave its trunk highways at a faster rate than two or three hundred miles a year, it owes a service to its highway users when the bottom goes out of some of its unpaved roads, says the Minneapolis Journal editorially.

It should be possible to establish and maintain daily information service throughout the State, by means of which reliable and accurate data on every unpaved trunk highway and alternate route would be available. And it should be a service that would not blink at facts.

Many a trunk highway west and northwest of Willmar, in West Central Minnesota, has been impassable in the last week. Drivers could get to Pennock, five miles west of Willmar, and then had to hunt a road out, for the State Trunk Highway westward was closed. Drivers likewise could get to Osakis on paving, and then gamble with the roads. So, too, at Brainerd. If roundabout routes finally brought them, say to Fergus Falls, it was to learn that they would have great difficulty getting to Fargo or Breckenridge, though they might be lucky enough to find detours. And these are instances that might be paralleled elsewhere in Minnesota.

It is possible, in times of mud and rain, to get through on some routes by taking long detours, or gambling with long roundabout trunks and spending time and money on extra miles. But every traveler must work his way along, learning for himself, if he is lucky, and to his sorrow, if he is unlucky, what road conditions are fifty or seventy-five miles ahead on his desired route.

These conditions obtain, because Minnesota has failed to pave so many of its trunks. They are just what might be expected in a rainy season such as we've been having. But if Minnesota is to continue its present policy, it ought to guide its travelers on their way. A weekly statement of road conditions is not enough; indeed, such a listing is all but useless. What is needed is a reliable information bureau in every town along the unpaved highways, and similar service to all who desire or are obliged to venture off the paved highways, in some parts of the State Trunk Highway System. It might cost a little money, though it would seem that filling stations and telephone companies would be glad to cooperate without cost.

Road information is no substitute for paving, but it is an essential, so long as Minnesota's paving comprises less than one-fifth of its seven thousand miles of Trunk Highway.

GOODYEAR BUILDS MORE THAN 1,000,000 TIRES

Akron, Ohio, May 16.—More than a million tires have been manufactured at the Dixie plant of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company since the unit was established at Gadsden, Alabama, less than a year ago. Tire No. 1,000,001 was built with formality on May 7, with plant and city officials participating.

W. E. Weir, mayor of Gadsden, and other well-known residents of the Alabama city, were present when the tire was turned out.

It required the parent plant at Akron more than 10 years to produce its first million tires. That was back in the earliest days of the industry. The Gadsden plant produced its first million tires in 10 months.

RED TOP STEEL DRIVE POSTS

GOOD boundary and cross fences plus a liberal use of movable or temporary fence are not an expense but the best investment you can make. It pays big dividends in the form of wastes stopped—labor saved in harvesting crops—down and shattered grain salvaged—pasturage in stubble fields made available—extra pigs raised and marketed earlier. And it pays extra dividends in the form of losses prevented, such as stock killed on the highways—valuable animals lost through breaking into and gorging on crops—damage to stock from wire cuts—milk production lost through damage resulting to a good cow breaking through a run down fence.

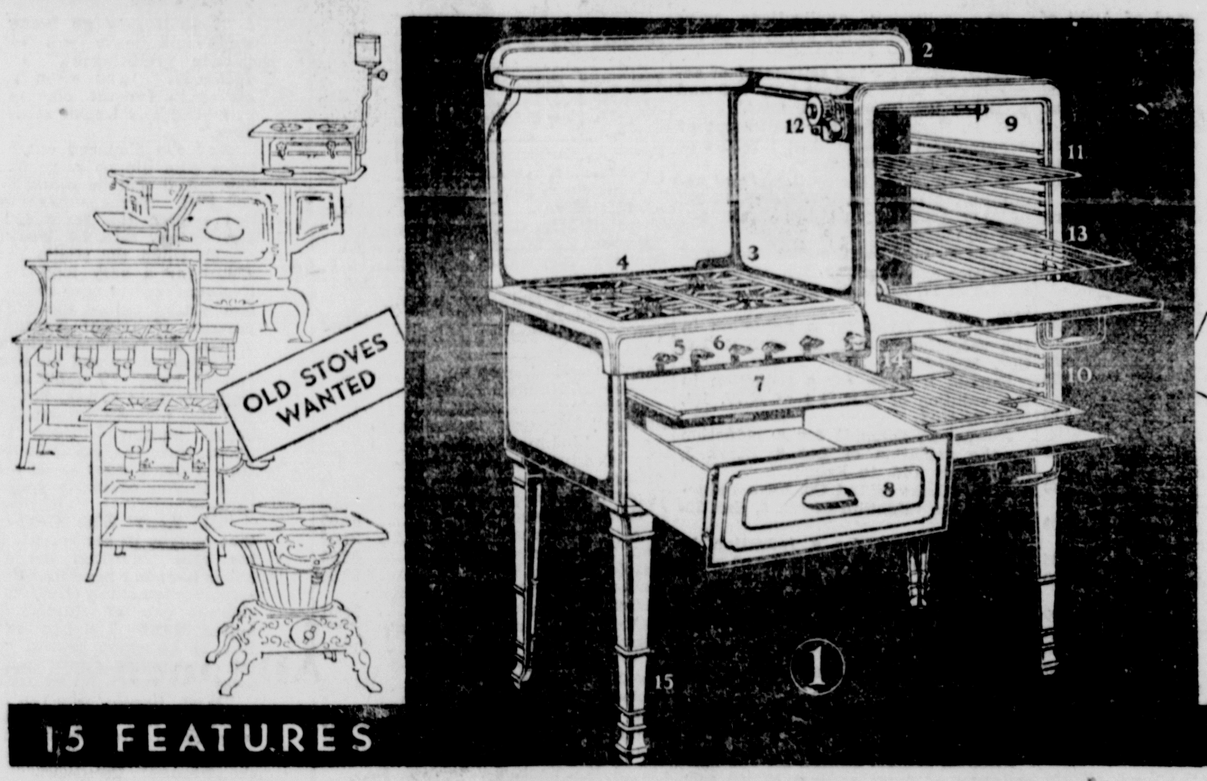

And when these good fences are erected on Red Top steel posts they not only last longer but are an efficient lightning protection to stock—Red Tops ground the flash every rod—save the loss of valuable animals.

Come in and let us show you the superior features that make Red Top last longest in the fence line—make it the best steel post your money can buy.

UNTIL JUNE 10 ONLY
$30.00 Allowance on Your Old Stove to Introduce the New 15 Feature Skelgas Stove No. 570

IS YOUR cook stove right up to the minute in performance, design and beauty? Can you light it instantly, turn it off at once, clean every part with a damp cloth and lift a kettle right off the fire without finding a bit of soot on the bottom? Only a gas stove has those (and many other) advantages, and if you do not have a gas stove, we are making it easy for you to install one—the new Skelgas #570.

To introduce this beautiful, efficient stove, we are offering a trade-in allowance of $30.00 on your old cook stove. Bring it in—no matter how new or how old—and we will buy it for $30.00 and apply the money on this new Skelgas stove, which has advanced features not yet found on stoves that are sold in larger cities. No stove like this ever was sold anywhere before this month, and this special trade-in allowance is made as an introductory offer only, good until June 10.

When the new Skelgas #570 is connected with the gas in your Skelgas cylinder, you have a better stove and a better gas than in the largest cities, where practically everyone uses gas. Skelgas is compressed natural gas, and is cleaner than ordinary pipeline gas because the heavy soot-forming elements have been removed.

We will be able to get only a limited number of these new stoves during this introductory period, so why not plan to come in right away to look at the stove, and order in your installation? Remember that we will not be able to make this $30.00 offer for your old stove very long. Look over your present stove and decide for yourself if it is worth more than $30.00, now that gas is making cooking so much easier.

SKELGAS
The COMPRESSED NATURAL GAS

10 Heat-Tight Oven with specially designed insulation. Rock wool, heavily blanketed and quilted, and dead air space, keep the heat in. Abolishes old time over-heated kitchen.

11 Bakes from Cold Start. Pre-heating is not necessary. Cooks in same time as pre-heated ovens.

12 Oven Heat Regulation. Put in food, light the oven, set the regulator, then go about your work or even to town. Return at meal time, and find the food perfectly cooked. Appeals to women who like to save time and who want to do other things than cook all day.

14 Speedy Broiling Oven. Broiled foods are the epicure's delight. Foods never fat-soaked or hard to digest. Perfect for cooking steaks, chops, bacon, ham and fish.

15 Sturdy Gray Iron Legs, fully enameled. Made of best grade gray iron. Legs are typical of the sturdy construction throughout. No flimsy sheet iron or light steel parts used. Only finest gray iron and 20-gauge Armco enameling stock used throughout.

Road information is no substitute for paving, but it is an essential, so long as Minnesota's paving comprises less than one-fifth of its seven thousand miles of Trunk Highway.

GOODYEAR BUILDS MORE THAN 1,000,000 TIRES

Akron, Ohio, May 16.—More than a million tires have been manufactured at the Dixie plant of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company since the unit was established at Gadsden, Alabama, less than a year ago. Tire No. 1,000,001 was built with formality on May 7, with plant and city officials participating.

W. E. Weir, mayor of Gadsden, and other well-known residents of the Alabama city, were present when the tire was turned out.

It required the parent plant at Akron more than 10 years to produce its first million tires. That was back in the earliest days of the industry. The Gadsden plant produced its first million tires in 10 months.

Get these extra profits from fence supported on
RED TOP STEEL DRIVE POSTS

GOOD boundary and cross fences plus a liberal use of movable or temporary fence are not an expense but the best investment you can make. It pays big dividends in the form of wastes stopped—labor saved in harvesting crops—down and shattered grain salvaged—pasturage in stubble fields made available—extra pigs raised and marketed earlier. And it pays extra dividends in the form of losses prevented, such as stock killed on the highways—valuable animals lost through breaking into and gorging on crops—damage to stock from wire cuts—milk production lost through damage resulting to a good cow breaking through a run down fence.

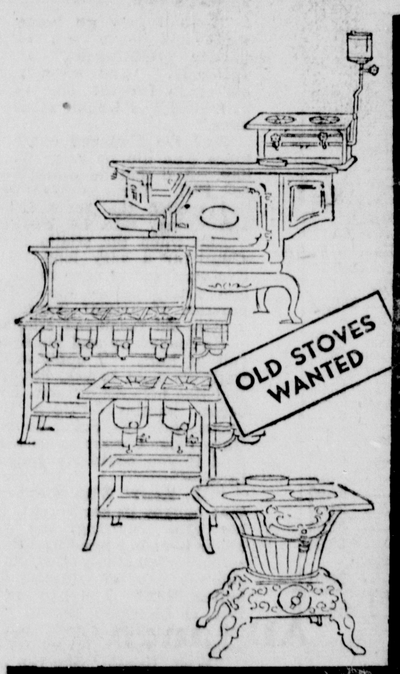

And when these good fences are erected on Red Top steel posts they not only last longer but are an efficient lightning protection to stock—Red Tops ground the flash every rod—save the loss of valuable animals.

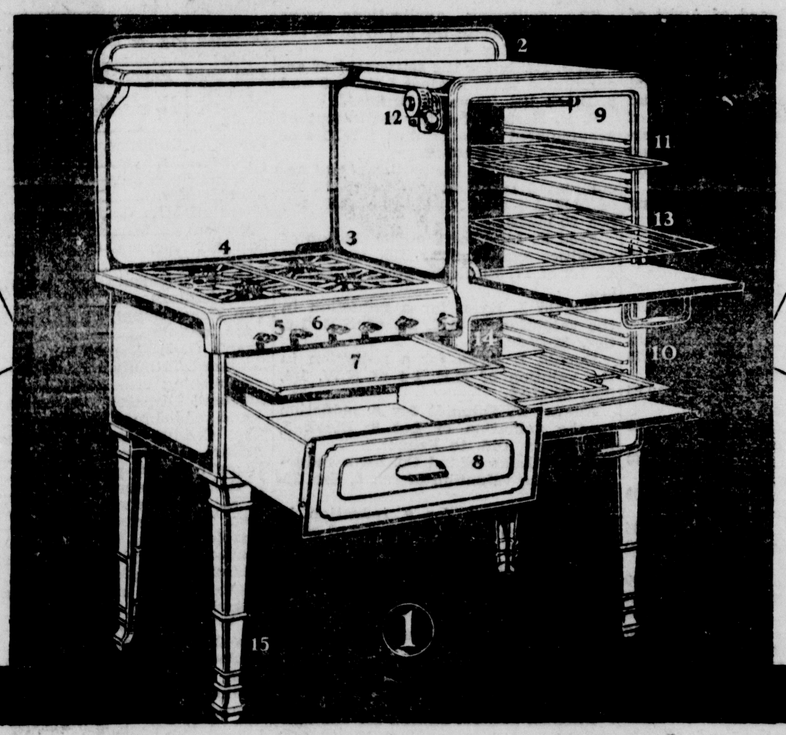

Come in and let us show you the superior features that make Red Top last longest in the fence line—make it the best steel post your money can buy.

UNTIL JUNE 10 ONLY
$30.00 Allowance on Your Old Stove to Introduce the New 15 Feature Skelgas Stove No. 570

IS YOUR cook stove right up to the minute in performance, design and beauty? Can you light it instantly, turn it off at once, clean every part with a damp cloth and lift a kettle right off the fire without finding a bit of soot on the bottom? Only a gas stove has those (and many other) advantages, and if you do not have a gas stove, we are making it easy for you to install one—the new Skelgas #570.

To introduce this beautiful, efficient stove, we are offering a trade-in allowance of $30.00 on your old cook stove. Bring it in—no matter how new or how old—and we will buy it for $30.00 and apply the money on this new Skelgas stove, which has advanced features not yet found on stoves that are sold in larger cities. No stove like this ever was sold anywhere before this month, and this special trade-in allowance is made as an introductory offer only, good until June 10.

When the new Skelgas #570 is connected with the gas in your Skelgas cylinder, you have a better stove and a better gas than in the largest cities, where practically everyone uses gas. Skelgas is compressed natural gas, and is cleaner than ordinary pipeline gas because the heavy soot-forming elements have been removed.

We will be able to get only a limited number of these new stoves during this introductory period, so why not plan to come in right away to look at the stove, and order in your installation? Remember that we will not be able to make this $30.00 offer for your old stove very long. Look over your present stove and decide for yourself if it is worth more than $30.00, now that gas is making cooking so much easier.

SKELGAS
The COMPRESSED NATURAL GAS

10 Heat-Tight Oven with specially designed insulation. Rock wool, heavily blanketed and quilted, and dead air space, keep the heat in. Abolishes old time over-heated kitchen.

11 Bakes from Cold Start. Pre-heating is not necessary. Cooks in same time as pre-heated ovens.

12 Oven Heat Regulation. Put in food, light the oven, set the regulator, then go about your work or even to town. Return at meal time, and find the food perfectly cooked. Appeals to women who like to save time and who want to do other things than cook all day.

14 Speedy Broiling Oven. Broiled foods are the epicure's delight. Foods never fat-soaked or hard to digest. Perfect for cooking steaks, chops, bacon, ham and fish.

15 Sturdy Gray Iron Legs, fully enameled. Made of best grade gray iron. Legs are typical of the sturdy construction throughout. No flimsy sheet iron or light steel parts used. Only finest gray iron and 20-gauge Armco enameling stock used throughout.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

May 16, 1905

R. R. Wise stated this morning that the new building on the corner of Front and Sixth would be completed by June 15. Some of the stores will be ready before that time and the tenants will move in.

There was something doing at the meeting of the city council last night. One of the most important matters to come before the body was the election of a city treasurer. R. G. Vallentyne tendered his resignation as treasurer, stating as his reason that he is about to leave the city. The resignation was promptly accepted. There were three candidates, Judd Wright, Claude C. Kyle and Milton McFadden. Judd Wright received a majority of the votes and was elected. Another important piece of business was the opening of bids for cement sidewalks. There were six bidders.

Brainerd people were surprised this morning to find the curtains of the Northern Pacific bank drawn and the following notice placed on the door: "Closed by order of public examiner for thorough examination." Supt. Kerst arrived in the city this afternoon from St. Paul and stated the bank had been closed for the purpose of making a thorough examination of its affairs. He also stated the immediate cause for closing the bank is the absence of cash means. It is understood that directors contemplate a complete reorganization and the bank will be opened on a sounder and larger basis than ever.

The Teamsters union will meet tonight to elect delegates to the state convention.

St. Cloud is making great preparations for the opening game there Thursday. The city will be in holiday attire on that day and Mayor Robinson will pitch the first ball.

W. A. M. Johnstone, clerk of the district court, has returned from Oregon where he went on business.

Love's Test

The vicar of Benfleet, Essex, England, estimates that during the average marriage a man sees his wife's face at breakfast 10,000 times, "a pretty severe test of human nature."

Bites Merely Annoying

Almost all the larger snakes will bite. Their bites, with certain exceptions, however, are not so dangerous as mosquito bites.

NOTICE

A petition having been filed in the Office of the City Clerk for the vacation of the twenty feet (20 feet) on First street, between Ivy street and Juniper street, immediately abutting Block One Hundred and Fourteen (114) of the Town (now city) of Brainerd, in order to improve said street and abutting property in said Block One Hundred and Fourteen (114).

Notice is hereby given that said petition will be heard and such action taken as the City Council shall deem expedient at the regular meeting thereof to be held on the 2nd day of June, 1930.

Suits Hold Star Place in Milady's Wardrobe

To be suitably dressed this season one should be the possessor of a number of suits.

Dresses and coats also have their place in the modern wardrobe but their popularity is being overshadowed by the attention focused on these smart suit styles.

The variety of materials used and the patterns followed make these two-piece costumes appropriate for every daytime occasion. Tweeds and flannels lead in the morning fabrics and velvets combined with rich metal cloths and satins in all their new weaves are the popular dressy fabrics.

A number of these styles are seen in the eMtro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "They Learned About Women," which will be shown at the Paramount Saturday only, worn by Bessie Love and Mary Doran, two of the feminine players.

You can't go wrong in making biscuits if you add the milk

only a little at a time

BISCUIT DOUGH must be light and spongy. And the way to get that consistency is to add the milk a little at a time. To give coffee a rich, uniform flavor every berry must be roasted evenly. That's the reason Hills Bros. discovered and patented Controlled Roasting. This continuous process insures uniform goodness in every ounce because only a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters. Bulk-roasting methods can never produce the same delicious flavor that Controlled Roasting does.

Tasting is believing. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and be sure to look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum tins in which is sealed all the wonderful flavor and strength produced by Controlled Roasting.

"GALLANT FOX AGAINST THE FIELD" IS THE CRY AT DERBY

TURF ENTHUSIASTS ARE SWARMING TO LOUISVILLE

56TH RUNNING OF THE HISTORIC KENTUCKY DERBY BUT 24 HOURS AWAY

ACE OF WOODWARD'S STABLE WITH PEERLESS SANDE IN THE SADDLE

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

Louisville, Ky., May 16.—"Gallant Fox against the field!" That was the cry on all sides as the horde of turf enthusiasts swarmed into Louisville today from all sections of the country.

With the 56th running of the historic Kentucky Derby but 24 hours away, indications were that the ace of William Woodward'ds racing establishment, with the Peerless Earl Sande in the saddle, would rule a tremendous favorite to lead home one of the smallest fields ever to face the barrier. Even though Gallant Fox failed to impress in his final workout at Churchill Downs, a great percentage of horsemen still insist he is the class of the race.

Following the utter failure of many eligibles to show enough to warrant being started, the smallest band since "Bubbling Over" triumphed in 1926 will face Starter William Hamilton. Thirteen three-year-olds are practically certain of accepting the issue with two more on the doubtful list. With the exception of not more than a half dozen the starting field does not boast anything out of the average run of horse flesh.

Hope of a fast track was shattered today by the weather bureau, which predicted rain tonight and Saturday.

If mud prevails, as per the custom of recent years, Gallant Fox may lose favor as the son of Sir Gallahad III evidently does not relish sticky footing and the general concensus of opinion is that the race would be thrown wide open.

The east and half of Kentucky have rallied to the support of Gallant Fox, while the remainder of the Blue Grass country is backing the E. R. Bradley entries, Buckeye Poet and Breezing Thru, and E. F. Pritchard's Tannery. High Foot, until recently second choice for honors, probably will go to the post at juicy odds.

Edward George Villiers Stanley, the seventeenth Earl of Derby, will attend Saturday's race and his presentation address to the winning owner and rider will be broadcast over an international hookup.

The probable starting field, with riders and odds:

Gallant Fox—E. Sande	3-2

GLENNA COLLETT BEATEN IN FINAL

By VIRGIL PINKLEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Formby, Eng., May 16.—For the second consecutive year, Glenna Collett, American golf champion, was beaten in the final of the British women's golf championship when Diana Fishwick, 19-year-old British girl, won the 36-hole final.

The score was 4 and 3.

Almost from the very beginning the American girl was fighting from behind in a vain attempt to overtake the smiling English girl. Miss Collett won the first hole with a par 4, but lost the second and thereafter was never ahead.

They were all square at the end of the first six holes, but Miss Fishwick won the 9th hole when Glenna took a 5, two over par for the 184-yard hole, and the English girl led 1 up at the end of the first 9 holes.

Miss Fishwick increased her lead to 5 up by winning four holes—No. 10, 11, 16 and 18—on the second half of the morning round.

Miss Collett won only two holes on the morning 18, the 1st and 6th.

Their cards for the afternoon round follow:

Miss Fishwick—
Out	454	434	544	—37
In	545	455
Miss Collett—
Out	444	445	543	—37
In	445	446

Miss Fishwick wins, 4 and 3.

U. S. WALKER CUP TEAM WINS FAMOUS GOLF TROPHY

AMERICANS WON 3 OF THE 4 DOUBLES THURSDAY

NEEDED ONLY FOUR VICTORIES IN TODAY'S EIGHT SINGLES MATCHES

BOBBY JONES OF ATLANTA DEFEATED CAPT. WETHERED OF BRITISH TEAM

By ARCH RODGERS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Sandwich, Eng., May 16.—The United States Walker Cup team made a successful defense of that famous golf trophy when they defeated the British players here today.

The Americans had won three of the four doubles matches played yesterday and needed only four victories in today's eight singles matches to retain possession of the cup which has never been won by Great Britain.

George Von Elm defeated Rex Hartley, 3 and 2, to score the needed fourth victory.

Bobby Jones of Atlanta, team captain, defeated Roger Wethered, by 9 and 8. Harrison ("Jimmy") Johnston of Minneapolis, defeated Cyril Tolley, 5 and 4. George Voight of New York trounced Sir Ernest Holderness, 10 and 8.

Bobby Jones was the first American player to come home with a victory. He defeated Roger Wethered by 9 and 8.

Bobby went out in 34 this afternoon, which was two better than his morning score, and again broke par of 36.

The match ended on the 10th green when Wethered was over the green with his second, missed a chip shot, taking four to get on, while Jones was down in four.

Jones took three putts on the third hole, but sank an eight-foot putt on the fifth. He pulled his tee shot to the rough on the sixth. Bobby sank a 2-yard putt for a birdie two on the eighth.

George Von Elm of Detroit and Rex Hartley were all square at the turn of their afternoon match. Each went out in 37. They had also been square at the end of the first 18.

George Voight of New York scored his 10 and 8 victory over Sir Ernest Holderness through accuracy on the greens. He 3-putted the first hole but was otherwise most successful with his putter as he was with his irons, especially the shorter clubs.

Voight won the ninth with a birdie three.

The Prince of Wales followed three holes of the Voight-Holderness match.

The first American casualty was sustained when Tony Torronce scored a 7 and 6 victory over Francis Quimet of Boston.

Roland Mackenzie of Wilmington, Dela, won over Will Campbell, 6 and 5.

Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore., defeated John Nelson Smith, two and one. Willing had been down after 18 holes were complete.

Sandwich, Eng., May 16.—The United States Walker Cup team players' advantage which they held in having won three of the four doubles matches in the competition with Great Britain's team has been maintained by holding margins over their English rivals after the first 18 holes of today's 36-hole singles matches.

The United States players held the lead in four of the matches. England led in three. One was even.

CANADA-U. S. DAVIS CUP SERIES OPENING TODAY

Philadelphia, May 16. — (U.P.) — John Van Ryn's impressive showing against Dr. Jack Wright of Montreal in the opening match of the Canada-United States Davis Cup series today brightened American hopes to annex the series.

Van Ryn outclassed his Canadian opponent from the start and was leading two sets ot one and 5 games to 2 in the fourth set when rain halted their match. Their play was to be resumed this afternoon.

Georg M. Lott of Chicago and Marcel Rainville of Canada were to meet in the second singles match and Van Ryn teamed with Wilmer Allison in the doubles against a Canadian team, as yet unannounced.

EAST EARNING ADVANTAGE OVER WESTERN TEAMS

IN OPENING OF MAJOR LEAGUE INTERSECTIONAL COMPETITION

EASTERN TEAMS SCORE 30 WINS IN AMERICAN, 20 IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

(By United Press)

Regardless of the outcome of today's final contests between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and Brooklyn and Cincinnati, the east has earned an advantage over the west in the opening major league intersectional competition.

Eastern teams scored 30 victories in the American League and 20 in the National, while western clubs won 19 starts in the American and 27 in the National.

Today's games at Pittsburgh and Cincinnati complete the intersectional competitino and tomorrow all clubs resume scetional play. Chicago and St. Louis will get a head start on their rivals in the third National League game today while Washington and Philadelphia raise the curtain in the American League's only contest.

Rain kept most of the major league teams idle yesterday for the second consecutive day, only one game being played in each league.

Washnigton's Senators defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 2, and advanced to within one game of the league-leading Philadelphia Athletics.

Five Chicago pitchers were unable to stop the Boston Braves and the Cubs dropped their final home game, 10 to 8. Hornsby's homer with two on in the eighth gave the Cubs an 8 to 7 lead but the Braves pounded Blake for a trio of runs in the ninth.

The Philadelphia Athletics got away to a 6-run lead over the Chicago White Sox but were unable to hold the advantage and the score was tied at 6 all when rain halted the game in the last half of the fifth. As the Athletics did not play the entire half of their inning the score reverted to the previous inning and the game did not go on the records.

American Association Tabs

Kansas City, Mo., May 16. — Four Blues pitchers could not stem the tide of slugging by the Indianapolis Indians here yesterday and the Hoosiers beat Kansas City, 12 to 11. For that matter, Blues batters had little difficulty banging out safeties on two Indian twirlers. Indianapolis got 16 hits and Kansas City 13.

Mnineapolis, May 16.—Willie Moore pitched effectively here yesterday and won his fifth game of the season as St. Paul registered a 10 to 2 defeat over Minneapolis. There was not a single error on the score sheet at the end of the game.

Louisville at Milwaukee was postponed because of cold weathre.

Smooth.... YES!

because of its rigid, counterweighted crankshaft, Harmonic Balancer and new-type engine mountings

Smoothness is an outstanding quality of Pontiac performance—because Pontiac design includes those features essential to smooth operation.

The 60-horsepower motor operates at moderate engine speed when developing maximum power. The 53-pound crankshaft is counterweighted and has the Harmonic Balancer to offset torsional vibration. The crankcase is heavily ribbed to retain the main bearings in accurate alignment. And the engine is insulated from the frame by rubber mountings.

You can sense the result of these quality features the minute you take the wheel of the Pontiac Big Six—smoothness at low speeds; smoothness when accelerating; smoothness when the throttle is open wide! And smoothness is the distinguishing characteristic of a well designed, up-to-date automobile!

TURF ENTHUSIASTS ARE SWARMING TO LOUISVILLE

56TH RUNNING OF THE HISTORIC KENTUCKY DERBY BUT 24 HOURS AWAY

ACE OF WOODWARD'S STABLE WITH PEERLESS SANDE IN THE SADDLE

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

Louisville, Ky., May 16.—"Gallant Fox against the field!" That was the cry on all sides as the horde of turf enthusiasts swarmed into Louisville today from all sections of the country.

With the 56th running of the historic Kentucky Derby but 24 hours away, indications were that the ace of William Woodwar'ds racing establishment, with the Peerless Earl Sande in the saddle, would rule a tremendous favorite to lead home one of the smallest fields ever to face the barrier. Even though Gallant Fox failed to impress in his final workout at Churchill Downs, a great percentage of horsemen still insist he is the class of the race.

Following the utter failure of many eligibles to show enough to warrant being started, the smallest band since "Bubbling Over" triumphed in 1926 will face Starter William Hamilton. Thirteen three-year-olds are practically certain of accepting the issue with two more on the doubtful list. With the exception of not more than a half dozen the starting field does not boast anything out of the average run of horse flesh.

Hope of a fast track was shattered today by the weather bureau, which predicted rain tonight and Saturday.
